

Foxpass

LDAP Cyber Security System

Overview of LDAP

LDAP is well known as "Lightweight Directory Access Protocol" cyber security system. Over an IP network, it is utilised to manage and access company directory information services. This system is commonly used for authentication and storing sensitive information about the users, groups, and devices within an organizations.

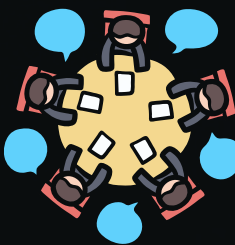

Uses of LDAP in Business Infrastructure

Centralized User Authentication

Web Applications and Portals

User and Group Management

Cloud Services Integration

Access Control and Authorization

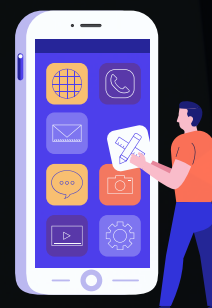

Security and Compliance

Email and Communication Systems

Workflow Automation

Device Management

Collaboration Tools

Contact Us

Email: help@foxpass.com

Address: San Francisco, California

Website: www.foxpass.com